

Toolkit project: Myanmar universities' collaboration meeting

Areas of collaboration ranked

Area of collaboration	Group 1	Group 2	Group 3	Group 4	Average
1. Sharing international strategies and agreeing common approaches to explaining the system of higher education in Myanmar.	3	1	1	5	2.5
2. Sharing best practice in developing websites, prospectuses and other documents used to promote our universities internationally.	2	3	1	3	2.3
3. Joint approaches to welcoming and supporting incoming international exchange students: preparing a shared "Study in Myanmar" guide.	5	6	5	2	4.5
4. Sharing the experience of international visits: this might include consideration of a joint delegation to international events and conferences.	6	4	4	1	3.8
5. Joint training activities on all aspects of international cooperation.	1	5	3	4	3.3
6. Setting up a professional group of international cooperation officers.	4	2	6	6	4.5

This poll shows that the two areas where Myanmar universities would most like to cooperate are in sharing international strategies and approaches to explaining the higher education system in Myanmar, and in sharing best practice in developing websites, prospectuses and other documents to promote our universities internationally.

It makes sense to focus dissemination and cascade training on these two areas, both of which are covered to some extent by both Chinlone and Toolkit projects.
